5th Italian Social and Environmental Accounting Conference (CSEAR Italy)

Padova, Italy, 18-19 September 2014

“Camouflaging of corporate (un)sustainability”

Welcome to the 5th Italian Social and Environmental Accounting Conference (CSEAR Italy)!

The conference includes three slots of parallel sessions, three plenary sessions with guest speakers and one plenary session with full papers with discussant.

The 26 papers presented vary from those, which are fairly well developed to fledgling pieces of work. Given this, the sessions are intended to provide interaction between the paper presenter and the group participants. Formal papers will not be available in every instance; however abstracts have been sent to you ahead of the conference, and are available on the CSEAR Italy website.

This year we are delighted that Professor Charles Cho from ESSEC Business School (France) and Professor Robin Roberts from University of Central Florida (USA) are our academic plenary speakers. We are also delighted and thankful that Lorenzo Solimene (KPMG Advisory) and Lucia Silva (KPMG Italy & EMA) will be our practitioner plenary speakers.

The last plenary session will also provide useful information for the special issue of the Sustainability Accounting Management and Policy Journal.

In addition there will also be a meeting of the Italian CSEAR members on September 18th at 5.30pm in Room 34. We invite all members, new and old, to participate to the meeting.

The venue for the conference dinner is the Antica Trattoria Zaramella and it will take place on Thursday Sept 18th at 8pm.

The conference will end with a walk to the city centre and a guided tour of Palazzo Bo, the historical building now the Governance bodies of the University of Padova as well as the School of Law.

We gratefully acknowledge the support of the University of Padova through their sponsorship of this conference

NOTICE FOR CONTRIBUTORS and CHAIRS

Parallel sessions are 1 hour 30 minutes long, with three speakers each presenting up to 20 minutes – leaving up to 10 minutes time for discussion.

Chairing the sessions – allocating the right time to each paper!

Rather than allocating a chair to each parallel session, we ask that the presenter of the last paper in each parallel session chairs the presentation of all the papers in that session up to and including the paper before their paper, and then the presenter of the first paper in the session takes over the chairing of the session for the last paper. In this way the person chairing most of the papers in a session has a vested interest in ensuring that no paper goes over its allotted time of 20 minutes for presentation and 10 minutes for discussion.

The paper with discussant session is allocated 1 hour 30 minutes, which means each paper, has 45 minutes. Authors should aim to present for 20 minutes, discussants for 10 minutes and thus leave a reasonable amount of time for discussion.

All presenters can provide paper copies of their presentation slides + copy of the main paper if it is available and if they wish so.

All delegates will have everyone's email address and we encourage people to make direct contact with authors.

For less experienced presenters, you are advised to use as few PowerPoint slides as possible - 10 at most - and to seek to focus the audience's attention on the central, key issues that you wish to be discussed.

Be disciplined but enjoy yourself – and help the audience enjoy it also!
