Students participating to ISPM could autonomously book and rent their own room at the "Union at Dearborn", Mi, USA prior to their departure. Detailed information will follow. Participants are requested to book their own flight and to buy the medical insurance autonomously. Proof of the medical insurance has to be provided to the ISPM office (Department of Economics and Management, via Bassi 1, fifth floor, room 54) before departure. Participants will cook their own meals or will eat in local restaurants. Participants will be offered to participate to several voluntary leisure and recreational activities (orienteering, trips, sports, lunches and dinners) which costs is paid once in the USA.

University of Padova is not responsible for the quality of the services purchased in order to participate to ISPM (transportation, housing, meals, events, student life, etc.). As it happens for any other international and Erasmus program, students participating to the program are expected to plan and arrange for their own needs.
